FOREWORD

“Long as time shall tell the story,
Long as hearts are true,
May her name be crowned in glory and honors ever new.”

These words are more than lyrics to our Alma Mater. They are a reality that cannot be altered. The spirit of Peace will live on in the hearts of her students. Time cannot change its impression nor mar its beauty. Peace and its creed will live on, regardless of change, so long as it is dedicated to strengthening young womanhood.

The LOTUS of 1958 is adding another impression to the long list of memories of Peace College.

DEDICATION

With gratitude and in expression of our thanks, we dedicate the 1958 Lotus to MRS. NELL BOOTH. Through the years that she has served as a member of the faculty, she has been an inspiration to the students of Peace, guiding them in Christian vocations. She is a tireless worker, constantly helping the different phases of college life. Her great store of knowledge seems endless. If there is anything to be done, Mrs. Booth can do it. For her devotion and loyalty to Peace and its students, we dedicate this annual to Mrs. Booth.

TRIBUTE

We pay tribute to MISS LYDA BAUCOM, who is a quiet, but significant part of the life at Peace. Though she has little contact with the student body as such, each girl loves and respects her. She is composed, trim, always smiling, and ready to lend a helping hand. In her dedication to others, she completely forgets self. We are honored to pay tribute to Miss Baucum in this, our 1958 LOTUS.

"The image of devotion."—Vergil Aeneid

DR. WILLIAM C. PRESSLY

Dr. Pressly, our beloved president, has a reserved section in the heart of every Peace girl. Because of his cheerfulness, his individual interest in each student, and his Christian manner of life, Dr. Pressly is a living example of what Peace College stands for. He has so capably guided us through the years, that when we think of Peace, we always remember, with a loving smile, Dr. Pressly.

MRS. LILLIAN M. FOX

Our gracious and charming social dean wins, so smoothly, the heart of every person who meets her. Mrs. Fox can be seen in her office many hours each day working out the details of the social activities of the college and helping students solve their individual problems. No matter how tiring a day Mrs. Fox may have, she still greets each person she sees with a warm smile.

MR. DAVID WARNER

Mr. Warner is respected by all faculty and students. A happy disposition and smiling face are characteristics of our Assistant to the President. He, more than any other person, is responsible for getting students to enroll at Peace. On his tours, he makes friends and then cultivates those friendships here. He is loved for his understanding and guidance and will be remembered by every girl who leaves Peace.

MISS FRANCES SUTER

No girl ever graduates from Peace without meeting, loving, and receiving aid and inspiration from Miss Suter. She, along with the dual role of Registrar and Academic Dean, is advisor to the Student Government. Yet she always takes time to discuss individual problems with the girls. Her devotion, sincerity, and reverence give her a special spot in the heart of every Peace girl.

Seniors of '58

Class History

A little grey-haired lady walks up the sidewalk, stops, muses a moment and then walks on. If we come closer to her, we see a smile crease her lips as old memories invade her mind.

"Yes, this is the place, the place where so many years have passed, left marks and moved on."

The little lady stops and examines the grass with sudden interest. "Ha! Car wheels—car prints just like the day I first came here in '57. It was about like a county fair combined with a mass migration of cars and boxes, dresses, and worn-down daddies. The girls were so friendly even then. Hmmm, a cigarette butt. This is the same ole Peace, all right. This is the walk where dates strolled with their girls, and where dateless girls just strolled to get a little exercise. Aha, there's where we had the May Day festival—over there near the street—the Nutcracker Suite. I remember the comments made by little children as our queen, Sue Wooten, walked by."

Coming to the entrance, the little lady stops and looks intently at Peace. "Still as pretty as ever. There's the fountain with the gold fish. I remember the girls encircling the fountain in white dresses, holding little lighted candles, and singing 'Blest be the Tie That Binds.' I can see it as clearly as if it were happening just now."

Going to the door, the little lady knocks, then enters. In a moment, the hostess is there. "Could I just look around a while? Believe it or not, I came here once," the little lady exclaimed, her sharp eyes taking in everything. "Ahh, here's the Post Office. We got mail and reports here. I remember we always preferred the mail."

Going up the steps, the little lady stops at the Lucy Steele Memorial. "Never will I forget this place. I remember the Episcopal communion we had here my Junior year. The first there ever was I believe. . . . Morning watch was here too—once."

Then the library becomes the locale of sudden concern. "Here the girls read, studied, and took light cuts. Those lightcuts! Honestly! Nothing like psychoanalyzing teachers and prophesying what our coming test will be like."

The little lady leaves the library and stops at the parlors. "Here's where we had meetings and discussions and oh yes—dates. This was quite a place."

Spying the sign-out box—"Oh, I remember you. What a time we'd have trying to get our permissions in on time. These were our outlets to many good times." In further wanderings around the building the little lady suddenly hears yells, wild shrieks of pure agony coupled with mischievous laughter. "Humm. There goes somebody being thrown in the shower again," comments the little lady.

Later comes the crackle of the intercom and a shriek of a different nature. "Someone must've gotten a caller," she murmurs, and sure enough. "Miss—crack (the com cuts off here)—has a caller in Central Hall."

Next the little lady goes to her old room, remembering the roommate that once was there, the exciting times they had had (followed, of course, by call downs).

"I think many of us grew to true maturity here. It was so interesting to watch a girl change suddenly from a shy new girl to a Peace lady, having a college she could call her own."

"Then there's the Rec. Room. Who could ever forget that place? The home of bridge, TV, parties; or the smoker, home of the cigarette and relaxation where everybody, everything, and boys were discussed."

"The chapel where plays, assemblies were held; but most important of all, our chapel program, our worship, our vespers—religion, the artery of Peace, was here."

"It is also the place for class day and graduation when old seniors with their little red roses march out to face the world with the tradition of Peace in their hearts. It was sad to see them go, but we were glad to know they'd be building a life of their own. For the Juniors and the Preps, it was also a time of tears and happy farewells. Many we would never see again. But for some there would be next year."

"Next year old Juniors rose quickly, assuming the Senior role." Here the little Lady pauses musingly. "This was the year we were seniors. Don't remember that it felt too much different. We were at least old enough to have 12:00 permission and young enough to mix well with younger Peace girls."

"I remember this was the year of the Asian flu scare, the hut programs began (the little hut was fixed up so nicely), and the Denominational Groups Chairmen. (I think we'll always respect Peace for her freedom of religion and her sincere desire to prove Christianity is a way of life worth living.)"

"Don't think I'll ever forget those midnight fire drills we had. Our hearts were in our throats as with a towel and a long coat we shivered down the fire escape or came down the steps."

The little lady looks at the bookshelf. "Exams! How our brains swelled during those times."

The little lady then sighs. "The year didn't seem to last very long, for suddenly it was time for us to graduate. I remember so vividly that last night when the sands of time ran low and we too took our little bouquet of roses and slowly marched away."

Last Will and Testament

ARTICLE I

To DR. PRESSLY:

To you, we leave our gratitude for all the love and devotion that you have given to us during our years at Peace. We shall never forget your friendliness and, above all, your Christian guidance.

ARTICLE II

To MRS. FOX:

To you, we wish to express our appreciation for all you have done for us. Your willingness to help and to share our problems has meant much to us all.

ARTICLE III

To THE FACULTY:

To you, we can only say thank you. You have enriched our knowledge and you have become a truly important part of our lives. Your sincere interest in each and every one of us will never be forgotten.

ARTICLE IV

To THE JUNIOR CLASS:

To you, we say take advantage of your years at Peace; and let Peace enrich your lives as much as it has ours. We shall never forget you and all of the wonderful times we have had together. We have become truly good friends and our only hope is that this friendship will never end.

I, Peggy Sutton, do leave my love for the Pika House to Nicky Durston and Mimie Whitner and hope they will have as much fun as I did.

SECTION 21

I, Thyra Rivenbark, do leave the stopped-up shower and wash basin to my suite mates, Nina and Carol.

SECTION 22

I, Sarah Rothrock, do hereby will my parking place in the mornings to Genie McCubbin who also likes to park her "blue bug" on the end. Might as well make it official!

SECTION 23

I, Bertha Stanley, leave my little corner room to Hilda Cagle on the condition that she will share it with another girl.

SECTION 24

I, Penny Boone, leave my desire to go to Carolina to Leslie Ackiss.

SECTION 25

I, Doris Mustian, leave my long hours at school to anyone who can survive them.

SECTION 26

We, Anne Curtis Allison and Molly Jane Wiley, leave Vault 317 Main to the next Presidents of the Student Government Association and the PSCA who are, like us, "lucky stiffs" (at the end of nine long months this may be literally!).

SECTION 27

I, Meg Nabors, do leave to Toula Bellios my time on the phone talking to the Delta Sigma Phi House.

SECTION 28

I, Judith Baker, leave my position as Editor of the Peace Times to anyone who needs the exercise of running after copy.

SECTION 29

I, Annie Lou Lockamy, leave my knitting needles to Evelyn Hill with hopes she will learn to use them.

SECTION 30

I, Myrna Jones, do leave my peroxidized stripe to Ann Yarbrough.

SECTION 31

I, Ann Staton, leave my ability to "goof off completely" to any poor soul who wants it and with this mess goes the great name of "Sam." (Long live the glory of!)

SECTION 32

I, Laura Frances Willis, leave my "great love" for El Espanol to Toula Bellios and my ability to make those "wonderful" grades on Miss Caldwell's history quizzes to Pat Wilson. They're welcome to both!

SECTION 33

I, Mary Miller Powers, leave my love for KA's and their pledge pins to Bonita Opie, and my fickleness to anyone who is crazy enough to want it.

SECTION 34

I, Jane Limer, leave my black hair to Sara Cotton, and my ability to make an "A" in Short-hand to Gail Sutton. My love for soft, smooth music, I take with me.

SECTION 35

I, Wickie Lewis, leave my car to Betsy May (if she won't buy it!).

SECTION 36

I, Alice Partin, do leave my seat in the Library to my roommate, Lindsay Britt.

SECTION 37

I, Mary Gilmour Parker, do hereby leave Peace to the new girls next year and my studies to Anne Berry.

SECTION 38

I, Betsy Weldon, leave my many hours of meetings to go elsewhere for studying.

SECTION 39

I, Betsy Perry, do leave my love for English and History to Carole McPhaul.

SECTION 40

I, Ellen Martin, do leave my "no-trump" hands to Kay who desperately needs them.

SECTION 41

I, Ann Robbins, do leave my bed in the infirmary to Betty Dancy.

SECTION 42

I, Faye Leonard, leave my job as treasurer of the Pi's to anyone who can "drain blood out of a turnip."

SECTION 43

I, Ann Taylor, do hereby leave to Cecelia Jenette my beaten path to Miss Suter's office.

SECTION 44

I, Myra Tatum, do hereby leave to my roommate, Gail Eckberg, my love for Peace College, hoping that she will enjoy her future years here as much as I have.

SECTION 45

I, Barbara Bowen, leave my roommate, Frances—even though she doesn't want me to. (It's been fun, Frances.)

SECTION 46

I, Shirley Bartholomew, will my position as Business Manager of the LOTUS to Barbara Brewer and hope that she has a very prosperous year.

Class Prophecy

High in a whirling satellite, a tiny, odd looking creature turned on the master controls and settled back to read his daily edition of the Inter-Space Tribune. The headline caught his beady little eye. . . .

Peace College Still Fighting Consolidation!

Under it was a lengthy article on an outstanding class, the class of '58. The story told briefly the latest accomplishments of the graduates.

Betsy Weldon and her "Betsy's Home-Made Pizza Pies" monopoly ran competitors out of business.

Betty Bacon and Marianne Mull built another charm school. They keep in touch with two old students, Joyce Crocker and Eva Dumas, who are still buried deep in an Old English Abbey studying the Classics.

Ellen and Kay Martin are on a world tour for "Punk, the Wonder Cat." While in Rome, they plan to visit Penny Boone, who owns a fountain for tourists with a lot of copper coins.

Peggy Sutton has filed suit against Bell Telephone for disconnecting one of her transcontinental lines.

Sarah Rothrock, Annie Lou Lockamy and Sandra Upchurch have received their Ph.D. degrees in Psychology. Also outstanding in the education field are Betsy Perry and Betty Joyce Woodlief, whose love of History has directed them to a life of study.

Regardless of those who said she'd never make it, Shirley Bagwell, assisted by her agents Judy Baker and Faye Leonard, appeared on the Lawrence Welk Show, now the only show on TV.

Lina Kirkman, Faye Lewis, Doris Mustian, and Carole Martin have compiled a best-seller—How to Get Your Man. Grace Holton, now in Africa helping the natives and saving money, had one sent Special Delivery. Frances Jacobs was there visiting while on location for her "Jane, the Jungle Girl" TV series.

In Europe Ginger Roney has taken over Christian Dior fashion industry. Sue Denning, who designs chic buns for the patrons says that Myra Tatum and Meg Nabors are steady customers.

Also in Europe, Ione Jones is astounding critics with her Modern Dancing. This is a success story which dates back to gym class at Peace.

Back in familiar Raleigh, Mary Miller Powers and Martha Ann Simon have opened a new soda fountain. It's called Johnny's Profile.

Alice Partin and Ann Robbins are co-starring in "That Southern Charm." Stylist Shirley Bartholomew was on hand for the premiere.

Nancy Butler and Bobbie Landis were awarded the Outstanding Housewife Award for a job well done. Pat Alexander was a finalist. This contest was sponsored by Barbara Bowen, a marriage authority.

Polly Goodwin is now stewardess on a plane running between State College and Korea.

Sandra Broadhurst and Sarah Jo Moses are in business as detectives. They have a Sam Catchem-Dick Tracy relationship.

Judy Ray, Betsy Barden, and Myrna Jones have opened a new restaurant called The Sonig (Ginos backwards), for those hungry Peace girls on Sunday night.

Mrs. Virginia Adams, principal of Raleigh High School, is a shining example to her students of the ideal Christian Mother and Lady, as she has been at Peace.

Thyra Rivenbark and Mary Ann Ray donated a new infirmary to Peace, as they wore the old one out . . . during the flu epidemic.

Molly Wiley, among her many Women's Club activities, chaperones young Peace Ladies to the beach during the Azalea Festival.

Becky Mathews and Laura Frances Willis gave to the Peace Alumnae Fund a large sum of money to replace the rugs in the Main Parlor, since they beat a path in the old ones to the phone at 10:00 p.m.

Ann Taylor and Wickie Lewis have just established the first Super Market on the moon. We always said they'd go a long way.

Jane Limer has an International Date Bureau that is doing booming business.

Ann Staton is spending her time being her sweet, likable self, which is an achievement of its own.

Sara Jo Gault, Rebecca Watkins, and Linda Horton are teaching at State College, and seem to be having a wonderful time.

At last report, Marie Beck, stock market tycoon, bought out the Mike Todd Enterprises to celebrate the recovery of Bertha Stanley, Editor of Who's Who in America, from a ghastly headache.

Ann Allison is still doing heavy research on African clothing.

Katherine Burden and Mary Gilmour Parker are working on a system that will benefit mankind—How to make straight A's without studying.

Anna Cherry, multimillionaire, recently bought the old Governor's mansion in Raleigh to take care of excess house guests.

Ann Williams, after years of work, finally arranged to have Fort Bragg moved to Garner for any poor Peace girl that happens to be going with a Lt.

And as the sun sinks slowly in the West, we leave our little creature settling comfortably back in his pilot's seat, humming softly to himself, "March Onward, March."

P. S. C. A.

ANNE CURTIS ALLISON

The Peace Student Christian Association is dedicated to the task of leading students to faith in God through Jesus Christ. The Association, of which all students are members, has as its purpose to lead each student to grow in the Christian faith through membership and service in the Christian church. This purpose is carried out by Vesper services, Morning Watch, Hall Prayers, and Hut activities.

Presidents' Council

Composed of the presiding officer of each student organization at Peace, the Presidents' Council plans programs of an inspirational, cultural, and educational nature, which are presented in weekly chapel programs. The Council co-ordinates the work of the Social Committee into the total student program, and promotes student activities sponsored by the various clubs.

MARIANNE MULL

Seated: Sue Denning. Standing: Alice Partin, Anne Allison, Molly Wiley.

Honor Court

SUE DENNING

The highest judiciary body of Peace College is the Honor Court. With capable student leaders, it has jurisdiction in all instances of violations of the Honor Code. The Court has the power to render decisions which include reprimand, probation, and suspension from school. Through the year the Court tries to create an awareness in the students of moral standards becoming a Peace student.

Anna Cherry, Anne Curtis Allison, Bertha Stanley.

Phi Theta Kappa

Phi Theta Kappa Fraternity is a National Junior College Honorary Scholastic Society, which has as its purpose to recognize scholarship and leadership. Members of the Peace chapter strive to promote its standards and to uphold its motto.

BERTHA STANLEY

Seated: Doris Mustian, Bobbie Landis. Standing: Judy Ray, Jane Limer, Shirley Bartholomew, Mary Ann Ray.

Alpha Pi Epsilon

DORIS MUSTIAN

Alpha Pi Epsilon, the honor society of the commercial department, is composed of students who have attained skill in secretarial achievements. This society encourages leadership and scholarship in commercial work.

JUDITH BAKER
"Peace Times" Editor

Lotus and Peace Times

Their desire is to promote, through the use of paper and pen, higher ideals for Peace students.

Their purpose is to transmit spiritual, humorous, and educational news from within Peace College to the girls.

Their goal is to make each girl feel closer to the school by encouraging her to participate in social and academic phases of the school, because without the student body working together, there would be no Peace Times or LOTUS.

Seated: Miss Oates, Toulia Bellios, Barbara Brewer, Liz Moore. Standing: Becky Patrick, Judy Baker, Bertha Stanley.

The Papyrus Club

A talent is of no value until it is revealed, then it gives pleasure to all. To reveal the literary talent at Peace College is the goal of the Papyrus Club.

ELIZABETH MOORE

Judy Parker, Barbara Brewer, Janie Ragsdale, Carol McPhaul, Grace Holton.

Athletic Association

GRACE HOLTON

One of the major aims of the Athletic Association is to promote good sportsmanship. With this in mind the Peace Athletic Association, which is composed of all Peace students, is the organization that directs athletic activities. As in the years past, the Association has sponsored basketball and volleyball tournaments and tennis and ping-pong tournaments for those who enjoy sports. The Association has provided much entertainment in its well-rounded schedule.

Resident Group Chairmen

Marie Beck, Sandra Broadhurst, Bobbie Landis, Nancy Butler, Sarah Jo Moses, Barbara Bowen, Jane Limer, Lina Kirkman, Betsy Perry.

Non-Resident Group Chairmen

Peace Dramateers

GAY HUDSON

The purpose of the Peace Dramateers, as stated in its constitution, is to stimulate and encourage interest in drama, to conduct scheduled workshop meetings featuring speakers qualified to develop facets of dramatic productions, to produce at least one dramatic program yearly, and, when requested, to co-operate with other school groups in presenting programs.

Seated: Cheryl Stowe, Judy Ray, Martha Railey, Nancy Allison, Judy Baker. Standing: Francina Dodd, Miss Pugh, Alice Marie Ray, Willa Kay Wilder, Myrna Jones, Betsy Barden, Mary Gilmour Parker, Sarah Jo Moses.

Art Club

Culture and beauty are conceived in the mind, made manifest by the hand on a piece of canvas, to portray some of the wonders of this, God's world. The great outdoors or a simple bowl of fruit make a beautiful picture when drawn by a talented hand.

CHERYL STOWE

Home Economics Club

BETSY WELDON

The Home Economics Club has a membership of students interested in homemaking, interior decorating, styling, and vocations in home economics. Scheduled activities of the club throughout the year include dinner meetings, outside speakers, and cultural enrichment programs on grooming, manners, and etiquette.

Pi Theta Mu Society

The Pi Society began the 1957-1958 year with a new constitution and new ideas. The Society's purposes are to conduct worthwhile projects, to promote friendships, to stage activities for the interest and entertainment of its members, and to support all school activities.

Choir

Happiness is portrayed by music; beauty is expressed in the melody of a song. Spiritual uplift is provided by the simplicity of an old-time hymn.

The songs of the Peace College Choir are an inspiration to all and help to make our days at Peace memorable.

MARIANNE MULL

MOLLY JANE WILEY

Molly has faithfully guided us through this school year, never faltering under the tremendous responsibility which was hers. How well she has executed her office as President of the Student Government Association! Molly is a constant source of inspiration to all who come in contact with her. She has the love and respect of every girl at Peace. Her reverence, sincerity and unselfish devotion to us makes her indeed an Outstanding Senior. For this, we shall always remember Molly.

Outstanding

SUE WHEELER DENNING

There are many superior qualities that make Sue an Outstanding Senior. Being the President of the Honor Court, she is a very busy student, but she devotes much of her time to helping her fellow students with their various problems. Sue has shown remarkable leadership in support of our student government and Peace standards. In her busy schedule, she finds time for extra-curricular activities with her hobbies of singing and dancing. Sue Denning is loved by all of Peace for her spirit, personality, generosity, and reverence.

With God at her right hand
Sue Wheeler Denning will walk
the road of life
With the grace of a dove.

DORIS MUSTIAN

Peace is proud to have Doris as an Outstanding Senior. If anyone needs her, she can always be found from early morning until late in the afternoon at school working, studying, or attending meetings. All non-resident students admire her for her capable leadership, pleasing personality, and kindness. Doris is calm and reliable; she can cope with any situation that arises. The spirit of Peace is in her heart, for she is ready to help at all times. With all her duties, she has never failed her high scholastic record. Doris is small and neat, efficient and extremely dependable. It has been said, "They serve God well, who serve his creatures." This is Doris Mustian.

Seniors

BETSY WELDON

Betsy rightfully takes her place among the Outstanding Seniors.

A friendly smile, a warm heart, and a concern for others are a few of the qualities that make her a friend to all here at Peace. And her gracious charm endears her to those with whom she is associated.

She has given a generous amount of time to Peace functions yet ever calm and modest.

Her interest in her school and its activities plus her friendly smile, warm heart and concern for others combine to make her an Outstanding Senior.

THE MEMORY OF WHAT SHE HAS CONTRIBUTED WILL LIVE ON HERE AT PEACE!

GRACE HOLTON

As president of the Athletic Association, Grace Holton has helped to promote better sportsmanship among the students and to encourage fair play, whether on a basketball court or in a classroom. Her extraordinary sense of humor and warm personality have been a shining light, to which students at Peace have been drawn. Grace's outstanding scholastic achievement cannot be overlooked either. She is truly a person of whom Peace can be proud.

"When a job's to be done, she's always right there;
Her energy and pep are beyond compare."

Outstanding

PENNY BOONE

Her vivacity and sparkle plus her ingenuity put her among the eight Outstanding Seniors.

She has shown outstanding leadership and diligence as the President of the Sig Society and chairman of the Episcopalian Denominational Group and so has won from her fellow students respect and admiration.

Her interest in others and her beaming smile endear her to us. Those who know her best find a warmth which inspires confidence and trust.

"Her lovely smile and winning way,
Prove an example to follow each day;
They draw us closer to God when she's near,
Making her presence very dear."

MAY YOU REMEMBER PEACE
AS IT REMEMBERS YOU!

BECKY MATTHEWS

The qualities that make Becky an Outstanding Senior are the aspirations of all Peace girls. Her bright smile, warm personality, friendliness, and sincerity combine with abundant ambition and diligence endear her to all who know her. Her trim appearance and soft-spoken words command respect—especially of the Senior Class that she serves so faithfully as President. Still, with the duties and responsibilities of her offices, she is never too busy to lend a helping hand or a sympathetic ear to another. A leader, a follower, a servant, a friend—this is Becky.

Seniors

BERTHA STANLEY

With her radiant smile and sweet voice, her vivacity and enthusiasm, Bertha Stanley certainly deserves the honor of Outstanding Senior. As editor of the LOTUS, Bertha has proved her ability to guide others and to accept responsibilities. Because of her excellent work, she has gained the respect and admiration of every student at Peace.

"Reason and calm judgment, the qualities specially belonging to a leader."
